By following easy, common sense tips you can have a healthcare facility where, with reasonable care, NO patients will FALL and Nurses won't injure their backs trying to prevent the falls.

You don't need to be an expert...anyone can assess the risk of a patient falling and prevent the fall thus preventing serious injury or death.

Family members, Physiotherapists, Assistants in Nursing, Personal Care Assistants, Medical Students, Registered Nurses and Consultants can contribute to preventing falls. It really is common sense.

So what have you been doing to date?

Let me guess...

You have to spend time filling in 'falls risk assessment tools' yet they may not have prevented some FALLS, right?

After years of seeing so many healthcare workers frustrated and upset because patients were still falling I decided it was time to write about this and give you some tips that really will prevent falls.

I have written this book as an Expert Witness Nurse Consultant in Australia preparing reports for the Courts for patients that have had shocking falls resulting in serious head injuries, fractured limbs, some requiring amputation and who may die!
